The Golden Mahseer

Tor putitora

Native to the Himalayas

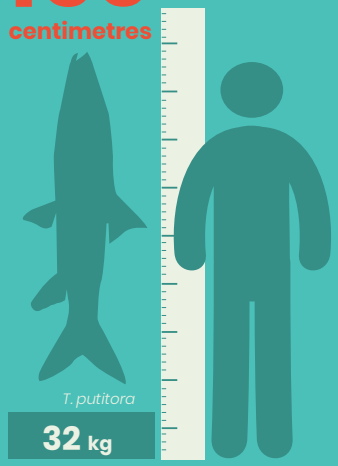
CONSERVATION STATUS:

ENDANGERED

Their migration routes are strictly within freshwater habitats.

largest verified records

150 centimetres



48h

50km

during their migration they can cover more than 50 km in 48 hours against ferrocious currents

they can live in temperatures ranging from 5°C to 25°C

the fish dig shallow nests and deposit their eggs in amongst stones and gravel in well oxygenated shallow water